

TechSandBox Adds Julia O'Neill of Bowditch Dewey to Board of Directors

Careful Board Expansion Attracts Another Startup Resource

TechSandBox, Inc. (December 21, 2016; Hopkinton, MA) – TechSandBox has announced the addition of Julia K. O'Neill, Partner, Bowditch & Dewey, LLP to its Board of Directors.

Julia (Julie) O'Neill focuses her practice on business, corporate and securities law, counseling individuals and entities on a wide variety of transactional matters. Julie regularly handles corporate matters including entity formation, stock and asset acquisitions, private placements and other financings, limited liability company operating agreements and shareholders' agreements, mergers, recapitalizations, secured transactions, employment issues, licensing arrangements, general contract matters and trademark and copyright registrations.

Julie's practice focuses largely on startup businesses, helping entrepreneurs in selecting the right legal structures for their businesses, securing debt and equity financing, and handling ongoing operational matters. She has represented many clients from the formation stage through multiple rounds of financings and finally to liquidity events.

Julie holds a law degree from Boston College and received her BA in Economics from Yale University.

About TechSandBox, Inc.

TechSandBox is a technology incubator with the mission of accelerating the success of science and technology startups who are based primarily in the MetroWest/Worcester region.

As the area's first co-working space and makerspace lab, TechSandBox facilitates access to information, education, resources, and expertise necessary to start and grow innovation-driven businesses. www.techsandbox.org

Press Inquiries: Barbara Finer, CEO TechSandBox, Inc.
barb@techsandbox.org
508-435-7263